

Hey You

Godhead

How many times will I ask how I came to be here?
And how many times will you demand that I sacrifice?

Hey you

What do you want from me?

Hey you

What are you going to do to me?

Primal confusion fills the air

Surrounding everything in here

Your calloused brain can't comprehend my forced resistance

It's never enough now I'm in hell

I'm running away, find someone else

You give me just enough to live on

You cut my tongue out just to stop me from remarking about

Everything you want you simply expect to be given

You'll never change but you keep changing me

Hey you

Hey you

It's never enough now I'm in hell

I'm running away find someone else

It's never enough now I'm in hell

I'm running away find someone else
