Are You

Dorothy Squires

I see it in your convoluted daydreams
These never ending quests we're always on
I can't believe the things we give importance to
These foolish goals we set ourselves uponAre you gonna make this easy
Are you gonna make this rough
This world gonna make you crazy
If you never have enough
Most of what we want is just illusion
Most of what we buy won't change a thing
Most of what we're told is misdirection
Offered up to ease our sufferingAre you gonna see the wisdom
Are you gonna call this bluff
This world's gonna run you over
If you never have enoughThis is a whole new thing almost like a new religionThe liights are always on the doors are never locked
We ride in on the light the shelves are overstockedEverybody's got their own connection
Everybody's hoping they can score
Everybody's looking for perfection
Everybody wants a little moreAre you gonna be addicted
Are you gonna give it up
This world's gonna drive you under
If you never have enough
