Grinspoon

She's laughing while he's crying don't it just give you the shits
He's winning whilst she's losing now you broke into a sweat

There is nothing left to say cause your already dead
No use walking round with a hole in your head
Nothing left to write its already been said

There taking while you giving and you can't seem to forget
The places, all those faces, all those times that you regret

There is nothing left to say cause your already dead
No use walking round with a hole in your head
