

For The Sake Of The Song

Townes Van Zandt

Why does she sing these sad songs for me
I'm not the one to tenderly bring her soft sympathy
I've just begun to see my way clear, it's plain if I stop I will fall
I can lay down a tear for her pain, a tear and that's all What does she want me to do?
She says that she knows moments are rare
I suppose that it's true and on she goes to say
I don't care when she knows that I do Well, maybe she just has to sing
For the sake of the song
And who do I think that I am
To decide that she's wrong She'd like to think I was cruel, she knows that's a lie
For I would be no more than a tool if I allowed her to cry all over me
Oh my sorrow is real even though I can't change my plans
If she could see how I feel then I know she'd understand Does she actually think I'm to blame?
Does she really believe that some word of mine
Could relieve all her pain?
Can't she see that she grieves just Because she's been blindly deceived by her shame? Well, maybe she just has to sing
For the sake of the song
And who do I think that I am
To decide that she's wrong I know nothings what it seems maybe one day she'll start to realize
That if she abandons her dreams
Then all the words she can say are only lies
When will she see that the gain is only to lose?
All that she offers me are her chains and I got to refuse But it's only to herself that she's lied
She likes to pretend it's something
That she should defend, with her pride
And I don't intend to stand here
And be the friend from whom she must hide Well, maybe she just has to sing
For the sake of the song
And who do I think that I am
To decide that she's wrong Well, maybe she just has to sing
For the sake of the song
