

Against th' Law

Billy Bragg & Wilco

It's against th' law to walk, against th' law to talk
Against th' law to loaf, against th' law to work
Against th' law to read, against th' law to write
Against th' law to be a black, brown or white Everything's against th' law
I'm a low pay daddy singing th' high price blues It's against th' law to eat, against th' law to drink
Against th' law to worry, against th' law to think Against th' law to marry or try to settle down
Against th' law to ramble like a bum from town to town
Everything's against th' law
I'm a low pay daddy singing th' high price blues It's against th' law to come, against th' law to go
Against th' law to rock, against th' law to roll
Against th' law to hug, against th' law to kiss
Against th' law to shoot, against th' law to miss Everything's against th' law
I'm a low pay daddy singing th' high price blues It's against th' law to gamble, it's against th' law to roam
Against th' law to organize or try to build a home
Against th' law to sing, against th' law to dance
Against th' law to tell you all th' trouble on my hands
Everything in Winston, Salem is against th' law
I'm a low pay daddy singin' th' high price blues Everything in Winston, Salem is against th' law
I'm a low pay daddy singin' th' high price blues
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>