

Open Your Eyes

Pillar

Your running the race that never ends to make amends
With the friends that you've had since the day that your life began
You're caught up in the rat race with your face disgraced
'Cause there's a time and a place for everything So we bring what you can sing
Giving glory and honor to the one we call the King
You gotta fix your eyes on Him 'cause you know
That death is the wages of sin so open up your eyes Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
It's your own demise
Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
To reach out for the prize Coming once again bringing the noise to fill you in
On this secret that you'll see when you open up your eyes within
So party people when you've fallen down you've had enough
Just open 'em up and let Him fill your cup You can't do anything without consequences and repercussions
You think the world owes you something, well stop your fussing
'Cause it ain't my fault it's nobody buy yours
So see what your life has in store when you open up your eyes Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
It's your own demise
Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
To reach out for the prize Open your eyes, open your eyes Don't blink Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
It's your own demise
Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
To reach out for the prize Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
It's your own demise
Just open your eyes, it's time you realize
To reach out for the prize

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>