

Sea of Red

Judas Priest

Now look and listen as you walk around
And you'll hear voices on the wind
Those lonely whispers from this hallowed ground
Just take your time as they beginAs the sun goes down
The silence is profound
For they gave so much
So we might go on and live
Laying peaceful they forgiveIn the sea of red
There are stories to be told
As the years go by
All the memories unfold
Bow your head
In fields of wonder where those swallows soar
Our hearts are weary as we pray
The grass is greener from the tears that fall
For you on this remembrance dayYour message has been heard
Words of wisdom have been shared
Their despair won't matter as they rise above
There is no end to loveIn the sea of red
There are stories to be told
As the years go by
All the memories unfold
Bow your head
Sea of redFrom this earth take wing
Shine down from the sky
We see you as you fly
In the sea of red
There are stories to be told
As the years go by
All the memories unfold
Bow your head
Sea of redOn the sea of red
Where the glory has no end
There's a place for us
As our lives begin again
Bow your head
Sea of red
