Where'er Ye Go

Paul Weller

And where'er ye go
That we'll never know
But as long as you come back
That's all that really mattersAnd where'er ye go
As surely you will
Taking with you most of all
Our whole breath and magicBut that's who you are
And we have to accept
We either live with it
Or live without youSo where'er ye go
And come ye back
As each time you do
You bring with ye such stories
That we lose ourselvesBecause our echoes are forgotten
And you never forget
You just lose track of time
That's alright, it's really alright
For we couldn't bear to be without you
