Total Revenge

Say Anything

When I like you it's total revenge
I want to but I can pretend
That I don't need to be
By your side again
Wrap me up in a plastic case
Pat me down with your warm embrace
I wanna know where you lay your face at night
For all these years
You're a problem that I can't abide
I could sleep well if only I tried
But I stay up and dream of a bride to be
Oh me, oh my
Give it up, I can't wait no more
I am stuck on your bedroom floor
With the thought that I may not be
As great as those that came before
There's a man assigned to me
And he checks on my stability
We discuss you every week
Then I rinse and rinse, repeat
But maybe, I can show you, baby
Maybe, I can relax for good
Whoa, baby, I can show you
Maybe, baby
There's a man assigned to me
And he checks on my stability
We discuss you every week
Then I rinse and rinse, repeat
And he charges by the tear
Till I weep no more strictly out of fear
That I can't afford your love
And the moon just burns above, okay
