Why

Busted

Look at me up in the sky
I watch the world just pass me by
And all my feelings give me away
It's happening more everyday
Loving you could be so easy
Loving you could be so great
Loving you could be so easy
Loving you could be so great
But how can I try to explain
Your story never seems to stay the same
You had a touch and I'm out of time
Just talk to me a while
And talk about the things we used to see
It's so hard for me to smile
I've never felt so alone
After all of this there's so much left to lose
And I've taken pieces home
I promise you I never meant to
But how can I complain
When everybody seems to know my name
You're outta luck and I'm out of line
It's such a selfish compromise
A self indulgent useless bunch of lies
I never thought she would believe
Hold me now but don't wake me up
Pull me down and then back up
All again for all to see
Low down whisper, a guilty stare
Your stagnant beauty makes me glare
Silly games in the sun, in the sun, in the sun, oh in the sun
But how can I complain
Your story never seems to stay the same
I'm outta luck and you're out of line
It's such a selfish compromise
A self indulgent useless bunch of lies
I never thought she would believe
Go
Loving you could be so easy
Loving you could be so great

Loving you could be so easy
Loving you could be so great
Maybe a change will keep me high
Stop me thinking and wondering why

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/