Infinite Indigo

Joey Cook & the Partyraddlers

200 years in a box full of strangers
I'd give you my world, if my conscience is capable
Don't let them see that your hands are still shaking
I've had time to think, but I'm surely breaking a...

Fatal attraction to any affection
'Cause I fall in love in a matter of seconds
Of bold illustration of my failed conviction
An echo of how much my body was willing to...

We're soldiers of winter...
And we'll laugh when you shiver...
Just one day till home,
But I look at the sky...
...And it was Infinite Indigo

Infinite Indigo...
Infinite Indigo...
In-fin-ite Indigo!!

When the winter is all said and done
And we crawled back to our makeshift homes,
My heart remembers just where it belongs
Well, my feet stop shaking, and I start to run

It's a fatal attraction to any affection
'Cause I fall in love in a matter of seconds
Of bold illustration of my failed conviction
An echo of how much my body was willing to...

We're soldiers of winter...
And we'll laugh when you shiver...
Just one day till home,
But I look at the sky...
...And it was Infinite Indigo

Infinite Indigo...
Infinite Indigo...
Infinite Indigo...
Infinite Indigo...

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/