Tall Tall Grass

Tilly and the Wall

When I was young
I used to sleep up in the garden
Wait to sneak in
When the house grew quietNow that I'm grown
I can't seem to find it
There is no tall, tall grass
For me to hide inWhen there wasn't
Anywhere for me to go
Oh, I stumbled into deep love
With your rock and rollWhen there wasn't
Anywhere for me to go
Oh, I stumbled into deep love
With your rock and rollI can't believe that we were Ever friends at all
I, I didn't see it
Can you forgive me?I've been scared to say
I've lined them up to fall
And I want to changeWhen there wasn't
Anywhere for me to go
Oh, I stumbled into deep love
With your rock and rollWhen there wasn't
Anywhere for me to go
Oh, I stumbled into deep love
With your rock and rollWhen there wasn't
Anywhere for me to go
Oh, I fell into deep love
With your rock and rollWhen there wasn't
Anywhere for me to go
Oh, I stumbled into deep love
With your rock and rollThe world outside seems to be glowing
Like a heart beating
The snow will cover everything
