Predicament #2

Swamp Dogg

I come home in the evening
She greets me with a smile
And right there beside her is my image
My little baby child
My favorite food is on the table
She's gone through extra pain for me
She's the perfect woman
To have my family

Now I'm dialing the telephone
When I'm positive she's asleep
To apologize for the date
That I wasn't able to keep
She whimpers and she cries
But this is not the first time
I can hear her pleading through her tears
When, where, can, will you ever be mine

Strange as it may seem
I love both of them
Selfish as it may be
I'm gonna keep both of them
They both serve a purpose
That makes my life complete
One is my lover
And the other has my family

A thousand times I've asked the Lord
Why couldn't woman have it all
Then there wouldn't be reason to be unfaithful
No reason at all
But until i find a solution
This is how its gonna be
One woman keeps my heart
And the other keeps my family
Lord now
