The Contender

Amy Macdonald

I've been written off so many times before
I've forgotten what it feels like to succeed anymore
Always on the sidelines waiting in the wings
When the curtain finally falls I'm never on the screenAnd I've got the scars to prove I've been there
I've got the marks from when I tried
I've covered miles and miles to get there
Only for you to cast me asideBut I'll still run, run like the wind
And I'll still start all over again
I gave it all cos I had to make it
I gave it all cos I had to try
Sacrificed my close relations for the chance to say I tried
I've never learned to win I don't know what it means
I lost myself when we were young I'm fighting just to feel
Always on the edge I just want to make my name
I'd love to show the world what I gave up for the gameAnd I've got the scars to prove I've been there
I've got the marks from when I tried
I've covered miles and miles to get there
Only for you to cast me asideBut I'll still run, run like the wind
And I'll still start all over again
I gave it all cos I had to make it
I gave it all cos I had to try
Sacrificed my close relations for the chance to say I triedAnd I've got the scars to prove I've been there
I've got the marks from when I tried
I've covered miles and miles to get there
Only for you to cast me aside
And I've got the scars to prove I've been there
I've got the marks from when I tried
I've covered miles and miles to get there
Only for you to cast me asideBut I'll still run, run like the wind
And I'll still start all over again
I gave it all cos I had to make it
I gave it all cos I had to try
Sacrificed my close relations for the chance to say I triedBut I'll still run, run like the wind
And I'll still start all over again
I gave it all cos I had to make it
I gave it all cos I had to try
Sacrificed my close relations for the chance to say I tried
