Nobody Knows

Nik Kershaw

i thought i heard a lover's sigh it wasn't very loud it came as i was passing by somebody else's cloudthe curtains were the finest lace and when the night winds blew i saw the dew upon her face and other places toonobody knows what you do to me and nobody's past is history but the thing they should know seems to bethat it's nobody's business at alli took a walk down lovers lane a quick call to the boss and yet again it seems my gain is somebody else's lossautomobilia nowhere steer my camera standing by i wait for evening mists to clear so i can find out whynobody knows what you do to me and nobody's past is history but the thing they should know seems to be that it's nobody's business at all

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/