

Blissth

Sorority Noise

let me be the drug that you use to fall in love that heroin that keeps you warm enough let me sink to your skin like water in a wound stitch me up when you are dark i want to be the water in your lungs let's you know you were drowning the last sip of gin you can't drink let me hide in your neck with every regret to practice swallow before you go to bed and why do i still compare everyone that I love to the way i loved you? i can still hear you sing but you'll never sing for me my eyes will continue to sink i wasn't built to exist these ghost limbs were never taught to swim you'll always be like a nightmare to me and i'm always waiting for sleep

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>