Things've Changed

Sammy Hagar & The Waboritas

She a poet, she's a dancer
Like a prophet, got all the answers
Face like an angel, touch like a healer
Look in her eyes, you know you've got to believe herWell, I got caught up in where I was going
I couldn't feel the way the wind was blowing
Yesterday I had a vision
Today it looks just like another bad decisionLife goes on, come what may
Pick up the pieces and roll, causeThings have changed
Things have changed
You know I'd like to say they're still the same, but
Things have changed
Well, if I could get down on my kneesand pray
Il never get back to yesterday
I want to think it's still the same, but Things have changedPleased to meet you, guess you know me
Yeah, I'm the one who said, I was never lonely
Always talking, never listen
Had my mind made up that there was nothing missing
But when you're standing in Norfolk Virginia
Wondering, if you still got it in ya
Dig down deep, reach up higher
You never know, ya might have to start another fireLife goes on, day by day
Pick up the pieces and roll, causeThings have changed
Things have changed
You know, I'd like to say it's all the same, but
Things have changed
Yeah, if I could raise up my hands and say
I just want to get back to yesterday
You know, I'd like to think it's still the same, but Things have changedPick up the pieces
Take a look aound you
Yeah, sometimes you just gotta roll
Yeah, roll with it, baby
Pick up the pieces and rollThings have changed
Yeah, things have changed
You know, I'd like to say it's still the same, but
Things have changed
Yeah, and I'll raise up my hands and pray
But I'll never get back to yesterday

I like to say it's still the same, but Things have changedMy World's been changing
I want things to stay the same, but
Things have changed

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/