Angel's Son

Yashin

I can't believe you've shown your face
I won't rest until you know what you have done
It's taken me this long to speak of you
I was born into something you took till there was nothing left (you took till there was nothing left)
And i could watch you burn
And i could watch you burn
And i could watch you
Burn

And you left without making a sound
Is this really happening?
And you left without making a sound
Or did you even care?

Come home
Tell me a reason, tell me a lie, tell me the truth
Come home
Was it a feeling? Was it the life? Was it for you?
And i reached for the skies and you held me down
What goes around comes back around
This is all i know

Nothing but a bitter ending
Stamped into our chest
You could follow, steal or borrow
You'd still be my
You'd still be my hero

And you left without making a sound
Is this really happening?
And you left without making a sound
Or did you even care?

Come home
Tell me a reason, tell me a lie, tell me the truth
Come home
Was it a feeling? Was it the life? Was it for you?
And i reached for the skies and you held me down
What goes around comes back around

This is all i know

You never asked me to, but i forgive you
You never asked me to
After everything i've learned
But i forgive you
This is all i know
You never asked me to
What you took can't be returned
But i forgive you
This is all i know
