Rusty

Idlewild

You look worn out
More and more each day
With every step and every page
You look worn out
More and more each day
With every step and every pageCroft, dated back
To the beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
Inside your croft
Dated back
To the beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the centuryWhat are you looking for?
You'll never get close
You definitely don't know
You're not original
What are you looking for?
You'll never get close
You definitely don't know
You definitely don't know
What you're aboutYou look worn out
More and more each day
Every step and every page
And you're still worn out
More and more each day
There's every way toCroft, dated back
To the beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
Inside your croft
Dated back
To the beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the centuryWhat are you looking for?
You'll never get close
You definitely don't know
You're not original
What are you looking for?
You'll never get close
You definitely don't know
You definitely don't know
What you're aboutWhat are you looking for?

You'll never get close
You definitely don't know
You're not original
What are you looking for?
You'll never get close
You definitely don't know
You definitely don't know
What you're aboutAbout
About
About[Inaudible Content]

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/