

Liquid Fire

GOJIRA

Eject from the womb, restrained, I'm catching the wind
Unfolded fire blows with the words, straight from within
The second I was born I found a shelter deep in my own
I ventured further out on the edge of the glacier

This is how we talk to the world

Pure liquid fire running through our veins

We're in this alone, we bow to no one

Carved by the waves, our sacred temple

Sing the praises of no flag, we set the tone

This is no fiction, we've come to an end now

Our conviction untouched, we build a life straight

Intelligence of heart as only guidance

Infinite power lies all around us and in the heart

The flashes find a way, stealing through these broken walls

And when this fire grows, it does it so we can't remember

The meaning of this life, we'll be marching until the end

Had not taste for more lies, we are standing alone

The bright treasure found has no price and no name

In the light of this star, with the forces aligned
