Gravity

Anekdoten

soon an angel's leaving they're ruled by laws of gravity soon this door is closing and you'll never know unless you go no, you'll never know if you won't gowishing well of wonders glitter box of dreams inside lie bitter pills you know i never wanted to sing for your lover but the angels sang of love and outside the night was fallingfly - fiery angels kiss the sky won't you shine your light down on me fly - through the blazing cosmic eye no, you'll never know if you won't goeleven ways to lose your mind seven ways to shine four doors that may take you in one that's closed behind i should have seen you leaving but i never thought you'd go no, i never thought you'd walk awayit's getting dark, too dark to see and angel's a long time gone too many things i can't combine with logic reason how can i tell the black from white if all is black and blue? god knows where i'm going when the keeper waves me through...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/