

That Girl

Gasoline Heart

Sweet young girl on the road to find her dreams
Open your eyes, tell me who you wanna be
If you don't know, don't be scared, you're not alone
Your mother's knees are bruised from prayers to keep you home This is where you are
Don't push, don't shove
This is where you are Truth or dare, sit and stare at uncovered feet
She's awake because there's no time for her to sleep
If you feel lost, don't be scared, you're not alone
I just told you things I never thought you'd know But you got thoughts up in your head
You want to lose
But you got caught up in your fists
With what you got to prove This is where you are
Don't push, don't shove
This is where you are This is where you are
Don't push, don't shove
This is where you are You wanna run
You wanna hide
You wanna live You wanna bleed
So you can see
What you got to give I'm gonna wake up and live here today
I'm gonna wake up and live here today
But you got caught up in your fists We are, we are home for a season
We are, we are home for a season
We are, we are home for a season
We are, we are home for a season We are, we are home for a season
We are, we are home for a season
We are, we are home for a season
We are, we are home for a season
