

Die Matrosen

Book of Love

Once in an evening she entered in the pub
There was something that pushed him up
He had a blackout, he's lost controlHe moved his feet straight to her seat
He asked frightened, the girl for a date
Oh, with a smile on her face she told him, yesHe is waiting and she's a one way street
Time is running and she don't come
He don't know which way to turn
