Everything Was White

Demon Hunter

As I clear my mind enough to see
Decaying pieces of my being that have fallen on me
I find the one clean cut that has given the wrath
Beneath the deep and cleansing fire that is shaping the pathI've had all my life to fall in place
I watch all my past in right decay
And with every step that shames my face
I see all my pieces catch ablazeThe pain is fading
Now you're leaving me alone
I can't stop bleeding
I'm depleting on my ownI can't bury every form I've seen
The hollow pieces of perfection are embedded in me
And with every step the walls give way
And in the shadow of deceit I can see you fadeI've seen all those dreams we try to hide
And the sound of honesty's reply
But I'm not that man you've seen inside
He was born so pure but then he diedThe pain is fading
Now you're leaving me alone
I can't stop bleeding
I'm depleting on my ownWith every word I breathe out
I feel it escaping from my soul
With every thought created
Omission leaving me so coldI've seen inside the downward fall
Remember all the filth I saw
I've seen inside the downward fall
Remember everything I sawI've seen inside the downward fall
Remember all the filth I saw
I've seen inside the downward fall
Remember everything I sawThe pain is fading
Now you're leaving me alone
I can't stop bleeding
I'm depleting on my ownWith every word I breathe out
I feel it escaping from my soul
With every thought created
Omission leaving me so cold
