Faced Down

April Divine

I'm faced down when i look up all i see is what i use to have, i look in to your eyes.why are you screaming in my face, why im i bleeding i just cant say, i cant remember the things you say i've done.but somehow i believe, cause stranger things have happend and i see that i bleed.I'm faced down when i look up all i see is what i use to have, i look in to the crust to see what i've done
I'm faced down when i look up all i see is what i use to have, i look in to your eyes to see what i've lost.every day i fall apart i'm looking forward to a new fresh start if i could erase the things i've said and done.what you say i believe, it's scares me and i wont come back, i wont lose controlI'm faced down when i look up all i see is what i use to have, i look in to your eyes to see
what i've done
I'm faced down when i look up all i see is what i use to have, i look in to your eyesis the sun still shining above the clouds, my doubts are growing can't you prove me wrong.
was the sun still shining above.. what if i could move the clouds from the skiesI'm faced down when i look up, i look in to your eyes x2is the sun still shining above, the clouds are hiding what i've done.
is the sun still shining above, i wanna know, i wanna know it of course.I'm faced down when I look up I'm faced down when I look in, I look in to your eyes to see what i've done

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/