

Internal War

Unearth

Internal war
Killing our own
Killing our own Burn the ones that have sinned against Claim their lives in your death romance
Arm the young with your hunting toys
By your own actions you are all to blame Power in the wrong hands our scaffold is destroyed
Children killing children 'cause our government has ignored
I sling my arrow to shatter your walls
No more creating victims from ignorance Internal war in the wrong hands our scaffold is destroyed
Children killing children because our government has ignored
I sling my arrow to shatter your walls
No more creating victims from ignorance Left to second both the sides
Each one cries and lies
Left to second both the sides
Each one cries and lies No more war
You've killed again My life for what, my life for what
My life, my life for what
Bound hands, yes you've all killed again
Stand by as dying children wait for life The line has been crossed again
How long will it take
The line has been crossed again
How long will it take to protect life

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>