

Why

Diffuser

No one could ever just take a chance on their lives

No one could ever just say the words on their mindsBreakdown the bulletproof lonely stare

You give whatever your dreaming

Angels are tired of living life

Watching the way you've been treated

Six days since you were in Michigan

Hoping for someone to tell you

Those thoughtless questions that you need to knowDon't ask me why

My mouth is dry

Can't find the words I must confide

Don't ask me why my tongue is tired

With you here I can't surviveShe read the Robert Frost paperback in July

He wrote that sorry's so hard to say when your rightBreakdown the bulletproof lonely stare

You give whatever your dreaming

Angels are tired of living life

Watching the way you've been treated

Six days since you were in Michigan

Hoping for someone to tell you

Those thoughtless questions that you need to knowDon't ask me why

My mouth is dry

Can't find the words I must confide

Don't ask me why my tongue is tired

With you here I can't survive

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>