

I Hope You're Happy

Blue October

There will be days when you're falling down
There will be days when you're inside out
There will be days when you fall
apart, someone else will break your heart
They're never gonna hold you back, I'm always gonna have your back
So, try to remember that
I hope you're happy, I hope you're good
I hope you get what you wish for and you're well understood
And now I'm standing here looking at you
I wonder what the hell you're going to do
With those Dr. Pepper eyes and your bubblegum hair
Yeah, I'm standing right here
I remember how I held you so right, I remember that saturday night
Do you?

There will be days when you're falling down
There will be days when you're inside out
There will be days when you fall
apart, someone else will break your heart
They're never gonna hold you back, I'm always gonna have your back
So, try to remember that
I hope you're happy, I hope you're good
I hope you get what you wish for and you're well understood
And whatever your progress, I know you'll be fine
Because I hope you're happy, even though you're not mine
I remember when the world was ours to take, I remember you next to me
I remember you with every breath I take, you'll always have a piece of me
I remember yeah, try to remember yeah
I remember every word that you spoke, you right here next to me
I remember how we tried and we tried, I remember everything
Try to remember that
That I hope you're happy, that I hope you're happy
I hope you're happy, I hope you're good
I hope you get what you wish for, and you're well understood
And whatever your progress, I know you'll be fine
Because I hope you're happy, even though you're not mine
Try to remember that
That I hope you're happy

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>