Cold Winter Nights

Stratovarius

Summer's gone a while ago the daylight dims away
I'm watching here, how the snow begins to fall
Yesterday is like a dream, a memory in my head
Like all the life's gone behind a winter wall
I'm lighting up the candles, unlock the door
Sitting by the fire it's time to dream some more
I have to find a way, how to survive, I am surrounded by the starlight
I have to find the path how to escape from the cold winter nights
Winter nights
And in the morning there's no trace of the sun
Just gray fog hanging above my head

All the birds are quiet, hiding in the woods
Can't see no movement, are they all dead?
I'm lighting up the candles, unlock the door
Sitting by the fire it's time to dream some more
I have to find a way, how to survive, I am surrounded by the starlight
I have to find the path how to escape from the cold winter nights
Winter nights
I have to find a way, how to survive, I am surrounded by the starlight
I have to find the path how to escape from the cold winter nights
Winter nights, winter nights
