Fail to Compromise

Amanda Overmyer

You never took the time to show them how long you've known me
Miles and miles apart your words well they still tend to throw me
Even if I called would you change the words about me?
Turning back I look and see why our ways went separately...And I run, I run away to find; in the end, well I only found a place to hide
When I thought you'd change my mind
Well I'm always sure your going to fail to compromiseSuddenly my presence scares the living shit out of you
When all along my light, well, it simply blinded you
Once upon a time your sentence it merely tickled you
But looking at the mirror now well it shows you true blueAnd I run, I run away to find; in the end, well I only found a place to hide
When I thought you'd change my mind
Well I'm always sure your going to fail to compromiseTake some time to evaluate these lines
Seek and ya shall find, but you've changed you're mind.....
You chose to cry, cry, cryAnd I run, I run away to find; in the end, in the end
And I run, I run away to find; in the end, well I only found a place to hide
When I thought you'd change my mind
Well I'm always sure your going to fail to compromise
Fail to compromise
Fail to compromise
Gonna fail, gonna fail
Fail to compromise
Fail to compromise
