Perfect Time of Day

Howie Day

It's the perfect time of day It's the last day of your life Don't let it drift away While your heart is still racing It's the perfect time of dayAnd you won't feel a thing And you won't recall Anything at allClose your eyes and take your last breath Rest your head aside The end is the beginning and every point between Some are lost, oh some are lostAnd you won't feel a thing And you won't recall Anything at allLet your colors collide Oh, the time is so fleeting I'll quit running behind Oh I know your meaning You love to fall But why you wanna say? That you love to fall The perfect time of dayAnd you won't feel a thing And you won't recall Anything at all, nowIt's the perfect time of day It's the perfect time of day Come on now, come on now, come on It's the perfect time of day Come on now, come on now, come on It's the perfect time with youCome on now, come on now, come on Come on with you Come on now, come on now
