Child

Asrai

Like a long day in life
Never so strong is the mercy inside
I feel my eyes turn to the skies
Sliding slowly, melting in your eyesYou cover up the cruelty
They built so carefully for all those years
You cover up the cruelty
They built so carefully for all those yearsSpit on mother nature
When you yearn and cry out her name
And cry out her nameCry little child our bodies
Drown our sorrow tomorrow
How painful it is to watch you vanish
Don't say you're sorry 'cause
You can't fill this holeYou cover up the cruelty
They built so carefully for all those years
You cover up the cruelty
They built so carefully for all those yearsSpit on mother nature
When you yearn and cry out her name
And cry out her nameHow lonely is the darkness of the night
Say goodbye to a lost friend
Desperately seeking to remainFall into grief that finally turns to silence
When silence turns into madness
An endless rage against all oddsSpit on mother nature
When you yearn and cry out her name
And cry out her nameThe sour taste of sorrow
