

All the Ships at Sea

Sense Field

Sense Field All The Ships At Sea a symbol of the greater emotion to a brave new age great works will free us from this cage but they had to send her into the ocean is your friend but she can burn you down into your own submission wishing you had had the vision great big planes criss-cross the sky before they leave the station such a small percentage of us ever die you'll get a little oxygen mask does it make you feel better know when we're about to crash and they'll try to land her over the ocean is a friend but she can burn you down into your own submission orders to abort the mission before they leave the station wishing you had had the vision the ocean's your friend but she can wash you away the sun is your friend but she can burn you down into your own submission the sky is your friend but she can blow you away wishing you had had the vision down into your own submission wishing you had had the vision wishing you had had the vision before they leave the station orders to abort the mission
