Many Faces

Flaw

Will it take some time

To release this inner apathy?

Enabled inside

And it looks like you're the enemyThings are never what they seem

Can't explain the reasons why

The illusions that we see

The many faces of our livesWhen you find it hard to breathe

Never keep it all inside

Which one should I be

The many faces of our lives?Irrelevant minds

You become a little more serious

Still passing me by

You should not be, rightly, dear to usThings are never what they seem

Can't explain the reasons why

The illusions that we see

The many faces of our livesWhen you find it hard to breathe

Never keep it all inside

Which one should I be

The many faces of our lives? If you feel that the timing is all wrong

Here's the key to remove yourself from harm

Maybe then you will live again, live againThings are never what they seem

Can't explain the reasons why

The illusions that we see

The many faces of our livesWhen you find it hard to breathe

Never keep it all inside

Which one should I be

The many faces of our lives? I'm afraid we're in too deep

Things are never what they seem

I'm afraid we're in too deepI'm afraid we're just too deep to come out, okay

I'm afraid we're just too deep to come out, okay

Now

Now

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/