Making You Talk

Bobby Long

lay me down easy I know I've done wrong I was out in the desert and planting head stones you bought it, I stammered my way around love I kindled the fires that burnt the embers abovelay me down ready with a sympathy wind if I don't start to feel better I may do it all againand it's the only way of making you talk for it's the only way of making you talkdon't mention the scandal it pulls me in two the lies I kept with me and the truth that you threw I'm heady with darkness, don't perch on my throne
I never asked for your distance or for you to leave me alone
