Into The Sunshine

A Hori Buzz

If I could change anything
Maybe I would start with thee
We could all stand around
Or we could just agree
We could all go to war
The weather might change tomorrow
From Mexico to Taihape
The leaves fall from the trees
I have stood upon this wall
Watched it crumble and fall
Into the sea
We can be forever now
All in one day
If we believe
The truth is in the sunshine

I know a lowly beggar man
In love with a broken woman
Two shadows on the edge of life
But never quite in the dream
And we could all go off to war
The weather might change tomorrow
From Mexico to Tiahape
The leaves fall from the trees
I have stood upon this wall
Watched it crumble and fall
Into the sea
We could be forever now
All in one day
If we believe
The truth is in the sunshine

I believe everything
But I donâ€™t wanna know the truth
Iâ€™m going to paint this town
Iâ€™ll trade my life for ya too
Sleep in my bed for a while
So we can talk without a word
We donâ€™t know everything

Baby leaves always fall to the earth
Come sleep in my bed for a while
So we can talk without a word
We donâ€™t know everything
Baby leaves always fall to the earth

Lyrics by Aaron Tokona and Ben Brown

Lyrics Submitted by Paul Garratt

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/