

There's No Looking Back

Eureka California

I'd like to think that I still care
And that's why these words sound so cryptic
I can't believe it's the truth
And that's why I'm withholding information
I left town with your money in the bank
Told me that you shouldn't have settled
Rode the green giant to the county line
Wrote you a letter
Yeah it was a signThere's no looking back
No looking back anymore
No use for nostalgia not that it matters
You like to think you'd change the past if you could
Well you could but that wouldn't matterYour actions touched me deeply
This relationship wasn't working
You know you could have had all the sky
If only you had made up your mind
And maybe it ended to soon
But I'm just lying and now you're crying
Why didn't you take the better man?
Things would have gone more according to planAnd there's no looking back
No looking back anymore
No use for nostalgia not that it matters
You like to think you'd change the past if you could
Well you could but that wouldn't matterAnd I know it hurts to be a fool
But that color looks quite well on your
And I don't want to fuck with your head
You've deserved it ever since you crawled out of bedAnd there's no looking back
No looking back anymore
No use for nostalgia not that it matters
You like to think you'd change the past if you could
Well you could but that wouldn't matterNo that wouldn't matter
