Lost In Time

Whitley

We're coming up, we're building speed
We walk along through endless greed
We walk along through endless night
And suddenly it's all about to change

And all I could have been
And all I would have been was lost in time
And all I could have been
And all I would have been was lost in time

You touch the sky, we hold our hearts
The kiss of death, we keep our wits
And suddenly it's all about to change

And all I could have been
And all I would have been was lost in time
And all I could have been
And all I would have been was lost in time
