

Last Generation

Kora

It's funny how you think the world revolves around you
The losers of the game are glad to praise your name
Reflections in the water, it shows you extra normal
Little knowledge is a dangerous thing I'd rather be hated for being myself
Than to be loved for being someone else
'Cause I've known these things I've been shown
There's an easy way, an easy way 'Cause we made it this far, no need to look around
We're right here, the last generation
There's too many times we let it slide
Is it too late for the next generation
'Cause we made it this far, no need to look around
We're right here, the last generation
There's too many times we let it slide
Is it too late for the next generation
Now what have you done with the world today
Plastic perfection, a nightmare on display
It's clear to me what is right and what is wrong
So quickly blind my eyes before it's gone I'd rather be hated for being myself
Than to be loved for being someone else
'Cause I've known these things I've been shown
There's an easy way, an easy way 'Cause we made it this far, no need to look around
We're right here, the last generation
There's too many times we let it slide
Is it too late for the next generation
'Cause we made it this far, no need to look around
We're right here, the last generation
There's too many times we let it slide
Is it too late for the next generation
C'mon, c'mon
The last generation, oh, yeah, yeah
The last generation
The last generation, oh Not giving up, no, no, no
We're not giving up, no, no, no, no
We're not giving up, no, no, no
We're not giving up, no, no, no, no
We're the last generation C'mon, c'mon
