Bitter

Remy Zero

I'm waiting for something else
I've already lost myself
This day is descending
The flower is bending
And I tried to believe in these lies
I tried to still see with black eyes
I wanted to tame you but
You never came through
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
And the sea is forming shackles to deliver
And I came to a resting place
I tried to take just a taste
The future is wasted
And I can't see the light from the sun
I can't even see where to run
You said we are learning but
The whole world is burning
It's so wrong
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
Bitter, just one more day
When it's already been too long
And the sea is forming shackles to deliver
And the sea is forming shackles to deliver
And the sea is forming shackles to deliver
