

Tomorrow (Acoustic)

We can't wait for tomorrow, when there's no light left to follow. I'll be the light that guides you home
Johnny was a good boy, used to be a dreamer.
Hit a bad streak, left home sinking deeper
Now his mom is greaving he thought he didn't need her.
Only advice he ever took was from the voices on his speakers
Now he's solo, got no one to lean on.
Staring at the photos, they keep telling him to be strong
Now it's all on him to make it right
But all he's wondering is where he's gonna sleep and if he'll make it through the night
If he press rewind, we could take it back one time
It's all on us to be the change that we wanna see
We don't have time to waste so won't you come with me now
We can't wait for tomorrow,
When there's no light left to follow.
I'll be the light that guides you home
If you're lost in the shadows
And you're losing the battle.
I'll be the light that guides you home
Wendy was a mother
listened to her preacher,
When her son came out he couldn't reach her
If she couldn't change him she didn't want to know him
She said, "Don't come home till you were grown"
Now Wendy is a grandma never met her grand kids,
And she spends each day thinking
What if she never would've judged him always should've loved him.
Now all she has is memories of him
If she could press rewind,
We could take it back one time
It's all on us to be the change that we wanna see
We don't have time to waste, so won't you come with me now
We can't wait for tomorrow,
When there's no light left to follow.
I'll be the light that guides you home
If you're lost in the shadows
And you're losing the battle.
I'll be the light that guides you home
Tomorrow
Where are you now
Where are you now
Tomorrow
Where are you now
Where are you now
We can't wait for tomorrow
I'll be the light that guides you home
We can't wait for tomorrow
I'll be the light that guides you home
If you're lost in the shadows
And you're losing the battle

I'll be the light that guides you home Tomorrow
Where are you now
Where are you now Tomorrow
Where are you now
Where are you now It's time to make a change
So don't wait Tomorrow
