

The Time Has Come

Mike Oldfield

A thousand years, they waited for
Someone who would be true
And now the empty years have passed
The sunlight shines anewSomeone who knows no fear
I feel him near
The child was born to be a king, a king
And the time has comeHe tamed the wild wind when he passed
The birds and beasts he knew
Until he came to rest, at last
The tall gates he passed throughSomeone who knows no fear
I feel him near
The child was born to be a king, a king
And the time has comeAnd now the story's just begun
A thousand years to stay
We wake each morning with the sun
To live our dreams awaySomeone who knows no fear
I feel him near
The child was born to be a king, a king
And the time has come

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>