Lonely Child

Andrew London

Summer comes too soon you say
Leaving for the winter, all of my dreams remain, and set with the sun
You, lean your back against the wall
Say it takes courage, I don't believe you at all Words don't come undone.

Hold me love
Yeah, hold me in your arms like no love was lost
Hold me baby, hold me right
Hold me like a lonely child.Â

I've been, waiting for summer, the absence of rain
But all the floodwater can't wash away my mistakes
Just want to hear you sing to meâ€¦

I'm singing, hold me love
Yeah, hold me in your arms like no love was lost
Hold me baby, hold me right
Hold me like a lonely child
Hold me baby, hold me right
Hold me like a lonely child.Â

All the bridges burned and blown and all my Friends are silent stones they line the Pathways, long roads home, I wasn't
Made to be alone, so...

Hold me love
yeah hold me in your arms like no love was lost
Hold me baby, hold me right
Hold me like a lonely child.
Singing oh no, my love, it's all been lost
You always keep singing, no matter the cost
Hold me baby, hold me right,
Hold me like a lonely child
I'm singing, hold me baby, hold me right,
Hold me like a lonely child.
