Why You Follow Me

Eric Benet

Oh, hey hey, heyHe, friend for all my life, I would not deny
Like brothers in my mind, she treasure of his heart
There upon his arm, eyes of midnight stars
I've been tempted by forbidden love before
But why must she be everythin' that I've been praying for Now this burning in my heart, will I ignore?
When I know that she'll be knocking at my doorHey, why you messing with my feelings?
Why you follow me?
I can read the signs you're giving
Why you follow me?
Turn away from your desire
Why you follow me?Don't be playing with this fire
Why you follow me?
Now she's dancing in the night
Her body is the moonlight
Too much for me to fight
Now, I'm lost within her armsCareless with my heart, I'm weakened by her charms
He has looked me in my eyes a million times
But now I turn away for I'm afraid of what he'll find She's the precious love for whom his heart beats for
But now she's always knocking at my doorHey, why you messing with my feelings?
Why you follow me?
I can read the signs you're giving
Why you follow me?
Turn away from your desire
Why you follow me?Don't be playing with this fire
Why you follow me?
Now she's dancing in the night
Her body is the moonlight
Too much for me to fight
Now, I'm lost within her arms
