

Greener Grass

Nine Days

Well, a man has two faces But still he's half blind Well, he searches with one eye For what he won't find Well, he looks for her far When he calls out her name When she is near She pretends she don't hear You might love her again if in your heart you can find The love that you knew If you loved her my friend don't take away her pride Well, the grass is always greener Well, it's hard to remember On the other side Just how it looked in your eyes But I paid the price ?? Well, it's hard to forget Well, I know that I hurt you You might love her again if in your heart you can find Some memories will never fade If you loved her my friend don't take away her pride The love that you knew If you loved her my friend don't take away her pride You might love her again if in your heart you can find You might love her again if in your heart you can find If you loved her my friend don't take away her pride The love that you knew
