

Deep End

Birdy

Someone told me that I'll want more
That I'll feel half empty, ripped and torn
There'll be plenty other hands to hold.
Now I wished they'd told me long ago. Oh, I don't want this to break you.
But I've got no-one else to talk to. I don't know if you mean everything to me
And i wonder can I give you what you need Don't want to find I've lost it all
Too scared to have no-one to call
So can we just pretend
That we're not falling into the deep end. You've gone quiet
You don't call
And nothing's funny
Anymore
And I'll keep trying
To help you heal
I'll stop you crying
And dry your tears Oh, I don't want this to break you.
But I've got no-one else to talk to. I don't know if you mean everything to me
And i wonder can I give you what you need
Don't want to find I've lost it all
Too scared to have no-one to call
So can we just pretend Ooh
How do we mend
Ooh
I didn't choose to depend on
You
It's out of our hands
Maybe it'll work out in the end I don't know if you mean everything to me
And I wonder can I give you what you need
Don't want to find I've lost it all
Too scared to have no-one to call
So can we just pretend
(x2)
That we're not falling into the deep end
