

Charlatan

Convictions

Kick me when I'm down.
Cast me out when I am lost.
This isn't who you said you were.
You said you were my teacher; my leader.
I still believe in the words that you preach
You speak the word from a pulpit, yet point a finger like I am a culprit.
Instead of pulling me up, you put me down. You always put me down.
This isn't who you said you were. I won't be fooled any longer.
Men like you give Christ a bad name.
Only in it for the fame.
I won't be naive. You are the reason many people don't believe.
You chose to deceive. I won't be naive.
We share the same beliefs but you should practice what you preach.
You're pride runs as deep as the plank in your own eye.
This isn't who you said you were. I won't be fooled any longer.
Stand tall when others weep before your feet.
"But don't forget to pay your offering before you leave."
If God is for me, then you'll never stand against me!
I'll pave my own road, build a house on stone, plant a seed in the ground where I buried your crown.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>