

I'm a Bore, Mostly.

Deaf Havana

I spend most of my days either sleeping or awake Watching pointless documentaries on tornadoes and earthquakes Coffee keeps me going though it fuels my wandering mind Wishing i was Kurt Kobain or Morrissey takes up most of my time when shows just mean losing my mind and touring seems a chore my faith in music is disappearing more and more these tattoos on my hands are there for life and the songs in my head wont come out right the times are changing we can go anywhere but im far too cool to admit that i care

the times are changing we can go anywhere but im too stuck in my ways i wont change so ill try to drag my fragile frame through another day and another dose of caffeine in my veins my body aches and my mouth is full of sores ive reached the verdict that mostly im a bore

the times are changing we can go anywhere
but im far too cool to admit that i care
the times are changing we can go anywhere
but im too stuck in my ways i wont change

Lyrics submitted by Olv.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>