

Singing Me Home

Lady Antebellum

My baby's riding shotgun singing just a little off key
The feet on the dashboard tapping out the back beat
The song on the radio's talking 'bout the love we've made
I know just what she's thinking and I can't wait Oh, love sweet love keep singing me home,
Keep singing, love keep singing
Oh, love, sweet love, keep singing me home
Keep singing, love keep singing The tan line showing at the waist of her cutoff jeans
Her damp hair blowing out the window in the summer breeze
Got the sunshine shining through the windshield
Got a hand on her leg, the other on the wheel Oh love sweet love, keep singing me home,
Keep singing, love keep singing
Oh, love sweet love, keep singing me home
Keep singing, love keep singing Oh and when we get together the love we make together
It blows my mind, every time we touch ow,
I can't get enough So slide on in a little closer
And lay your head here on my shoulder Oh, love sweet love, keep singing me home
Keep singing, love keep singing
Oh love, sweet love, keep singing me home
Keep singing, love keep singing Oh, oh love sweet love, keep singing me home
Oh love, sweet love, keep singing me home
Keep singing, love keep singing me home, ooh ooh Sunshine shining through the windshield
Hand on her leg, the other on the wheel
Love, love, love, love, love, sing me home
Why don't you sing me home, ooh that's right
