Disconnected

Cowboy Mouth

Have you ever felt the thunder inside your heart?
Holding onto all the shit that's going to tear you apart Till you done free yourself there ain't a brand new start, so you gotta let go.I once had a friend who lived in an Eastern town
He moved back home and called and started hangin' around, but every time I tried to talk to him, he put me down, so I gotta let go.Nobody knows who you are Nobody cares who you are
Nobody knows why you feel Disconnected.Maybe it's the way I'm told I oughta look and feel, Maybe it's because my mind is so easy to steal.
Then I'm living in a world where nothing here is really real, so I gotta let go.How do I get the fuck out of this place?
How when I look in a mirror do I not see my face?
Can I turn in my membership card to the human race?
Cause I gotta let go.Nobody knows who you are Nobody cares who you are
Nobody knows why you feel
Disconnected.Well
I feel like I'm slowly goin' out of my head
When I'm battling the moments when I wish I was dead.
When my mind and body feel like fire and stone and I know I'm gunna spend all my life alone.
And I swear I need to cover up my heart and soul,
I only gain perspective when I lose control.
Is it better to be cryin' when you feel insane, or laughin' out loud dancin' naked in the rain?Have you ever felt the thunder inside your heart?
Holding onto all the shit that's going to tear you apart?Nobody knows who you are Nobody cares who you are
Nobody knows why you feel Disconnected.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/